

Building a Permanent Home for Peace

Dear friend,

I'd like to explain why I became involved in the Maharishi Peace Palace project in Lebanon.

It all began a few years ago at Maharishi European Research University (MERU), Vlodrop, with my first participation in the Guru Purnima annual celebration event. Something magical happened there that was eye-opening on many levels. I returned home with the intention of doing something to help alleviate the resurgence of tensions and crises in our beautiful homeland.

How can one remain silent when there is a powerful evidence-based technology practiced by a small group of experts that can effectively defuse tensions and violence, as well as prevent crises, and yet do nothing about it?

I began researching the feasibility of establishing and maintaining such a group in Lebanon. During my investigation, it became clear that such a group needs a permanent home to ensure its efficacy and consistency. It was at that point that I decided to take the initiative to establish a Maharishi Peace Palace in Lebanon.

Can you imagine the amplified effect of orderliness, harmony, and affluence produced by coherence-creating groups in a place built in accordance with Natural Law on the larger population?

It would be incredible!

I believe that having a permanent location to house, broadcast, and protect the message of peace in Lebanon is both necessary and valuable. We all owe it to ourselves, our families, and society as a whole.

It is a challenging task that requires our full intention and attention.

I invite you to be a part of this peace monument—the ideal formula for generating coherence, stability, and prosperity for future generations.

You can help in a variety of ways. Even if you donate a little amount, that would help a lot! All information is available on our website, "Maharishi Peace Palace Lebanon" (www.mpplebanon.org)
